Welcome to the second Topic !
Content can be created in Word and Saved in PDF..

Converting your classroom-based training into e-learning format has never been any easier. Now you can use a PDF file, per topic to deliver to the learner.

PDF Files as e-learning content ensure that almost every training provider can now afford to transition into the e-learning environment.

Flip to the next page which will be the end of this topic demonstration. Once complete, mark the topic as "complete" to start the Formative Assessment. Formative assessments are optionally created / added by the course creator but compulsory for the learner to complete if created.

Once you have completed your Formative Assessment, you will be able to continue to the next topic of the Unit until the Unit is completed.

Formative Assessments are created on a Topic Level (per Topic) and can be either one of or a combination of:

Knowledge Assessment

- True and False Questions (Captured online - Automatically graded)
- Multiple-choice Questions (Captured Online - Automatically graded)

Summative Assessments are created on a Unit Level (per Unit) and consists of the following assessment options:

Knowledge Assessment

- True and False Questions (Captured Online - Automatically graded)
- Multiple-choice Questions (Captured Online - Automatically graded)
- Direct Questions (Captured Online - Manually Graded)

Application / Practical

- Assignment (Uploaded - Manually Graded)
- Practical (Uploaded - Manually Graded)